Name of Location for Distribution: ________________________________________________

Distribution Location Address: ____________________________________________________

Agreement between Care and Share Food Bank (hereinafter CSFB) and the agency named above regarding the operation of a Mobile Food Pantry at the location named above.

General Overview of Program

How does a Mobile Food Pantry work? CSFB’s truck arrives about 30 minutes prior to the distribution loaded with between four and six products with an emphasis on fresh produce. It may also contain snack foods, beverages, or bakery items. The truck will park and the driver will offload pallets of product in a designated area. Volunteers or site staff will not be allowed on or in the driver’s truck at any time. Once all pallets have been unloaded, the driver will depart the site allowing for the agency to finish setting up for distribution. Product can either be distributed directly from the pallets or portions of the product can be set out on folding tables. Any pallets or boxes needing to be returned to CSFB will be picked up with the next Mobile Food Pantry drop. A line of neighbors in need will form. Each participant will walk past the pallets or tables and receive the food. Product can either be pre-bagged (this makes the line move faster) or neighbors can choose a pre-determined amount of product as they move through the line. Volunteers/staff are stationed behind the pallets or tables to restock items as needed and to make people aware of any products that have limits. There should NOT be any remaining product at the end of the distribution. Once everyone has gone through line a second time. CSFB wants to ensure that product does not go to waste and the neighbors in need receive equitable amounts of food. As a result, based on participation numbers, CSFB may adjust the amount of product being sent to a site.
